Texto para treinamento:

Day after day, week after week, the Stranger kept on saying, "Then another locust went in and carried away a grain of corn." A month passed. A year passed. After two years, The King asked, "How much longer will the locusts be going in and carrying away corn?" "Oh, King!" said the Stranger, "the locusts have only cleared a few inches, and there are thousands of inches in the granary."
