

REAL VOCABULARY AT THE AIRPORT SCRIPT

QUESTION/ANSWER: On the Airplane

FLIGHT ATTENDANT: Hi there, welcome. [you are entering airplane]

YOU: Hi, thanks. [can't find a place for the luggage] ... Excuse me, can you help me out? I don't think there's space for my suitcase.

FLIGHT ATTENDANT: Ah, let's see here... [takes suitcase] There's some room in the back. I can store it for you.

YOU: Okay, thanks so much.

FLIGHT ATTENDANT: You're welcome. Do you need any help finding your seat?

YOU: No, I'm 19B. I'm just right here.

FLIGHT ATTENDANT: What can I get you to drink?

YOU: What are the options?

FLIGHT ATTENDANT: We have coffee or tea. There's also ginger ale, orange juice, apple juice, and tomato juice.

YOU: I'd like some orange juice, please.

FLIGHT ATTENDANT: [pours juice] Here you go.

YOU: Thank you. Actually, could I also have a cup of water?

FLIGHT ATTENDANT: No problem, here you go.

FLIGHT ATTENDANT: What would you like for lunch?

YOU: I'm sorry, I didn't understand. What are the options?

FLIGHT ATTENDANT: We have chicken or pasta.

YOU: What does the chicken come with?

FLIGHT ATTENDANT: It's chicken and potatoes. There's also a side salad and fruit with both dishes.

YOU: Great, okay thanks. I'll have the pasta.

FLIGHT ATTENDANT: Did you want anything else to drink with that?
[hands the food]

YOU: I'll have a tea please.
